<sup>1</sup> Please note that the NLRB's Rules and Regulations Section 102.111(b) states that "[r]equests for extensions of time filed within three days of the due date must be grounded upon circumstances not reasonably foreseeable in advance." The due date for exceptions was August 25, 2016 and the request for an extension of time was filed on August 22, 2016, which is only three business days prior to the document's due date. Despite being filed within three days of the due date, the only statement in the request for extension of time regarding why the need for the extension was "not reasonably foreseeable in advance" is that there were "unexpected staffing changes in my law office." It is not clear from this statement how the circumstance was unforeseeable or how it impacted the ability to meet the due date for exceptions. However, given that Counsel for the General Counsel does not oppose the extension (Charging Party had not yet responded regarding the extension request at the time it was filed), and the amount of additional time requested is not excessive, we will allow the extension.
